COTTON SEED

Bennett's Improved New Cotton—

Recommended by some of the best farmers in San Patricio County, whose names we can supply on request. This is an improved variety bred up from the Lone Star, and having all the good points of this well known kind; deep rooted, heavy yielding, running 36% to 42% lint and 1 1-16 to 1 1-4 inch staple; large bolls, easily picked and not bad about falling out. Recommended by A. & M. Experimental Station. Has been planted here for three years, so it is past the experimental stage.

This we recommend as the best grass for the farmer or ranchman, who wants a permanent pasture. Past all experimental stages and thousands of acres being planted every year along this Coast country where it does not kill out in the winter. It requires 10 to 20 acres of native grass to keep a cow—with Rhodes Grass one acre will keep two cows. Makes fine hay; does well in drouth, but will also thrive on excessive moisture. Does well on poor land. Do not fail to try this grass.
